Foreword

1944

*In this year
of strife and misery
our hearts find refuge in the steadied pace of woman's college.*

The global war has influenced strongly our thinking and our doing, but still the spirit of our college remains the same.

*Each part of the campus
has its memories;
each girl has her dreams.*

*The future looms
a vast, uncertain thing—
the present, too, is perilous. But we are waiting and working that we can make a good world
for all.*

Dedication

*Serving for three years
As our class chairman,
Offering us
Encouragement and counsel,
Leading us on
To accomplishment
By her confidence in us,
Guiding us as a class
And as individuals—
Miss Vera Largent,
Our helpful adviser and interested friend
Who has inspired us
By her unfailing energy, efficiency, and sincerity.*

Miss Vera Largent

Administration

1. Miss Draper away from it all.

2. Mr. Guy Lyle, our librarian.

3. Dr. Ritchie sitting one out.

4. Mr. Dickinson saying "This is where I work."

5. Miss Griffin casting her shadow on the gym.

6. "What you got in the box, Doc?"

7. "Why aren't you playing golf?"

8. "Oh, forget about your wife, Dr. Bridgers!"

At Ease, Faculty!

WINFIELD'S "TEA PARTY"

1. Miss Elliott and Miss Largent make things official.
2. Dr. Hooke and Dr. Friedlaender give those last minute touches.
3. The two that think alike—Miss Ramseur and Mr. Ditmars.
4. Dr. Rogers and Dr. Bridgers with the "take another one" air.
5. "Ohhhh, in here," says Miss England.
6. Mr. and Mrs. Hall looking their best.
7. Miss Elliott's able "stand-in."
8. Miss Abbott, well escorted by Dr. Jackson.

They Aid and Abet Us

GOVERNOR JAMES MELVILLE BROUGHTON

DR. FRANK PORTER GRAHAM

THE STUDENTS OF Woman's College sincerely feel that they have real friends as their administrative officers. We are proud to think that our interests are the same—new ways to make our college the best of its kind.

Although we rarely have Governor Broughton on our campus in person, we know that he is looking out for Woman's College down in Raleigh. And we think, too, that even if Carolina claims "Doctor Frank" as its own, he keeps an eye out for his girls in Greensboro. With two such outstanding men of the South behind us, Woman's College will continue to climb in national standing.

the alumnae and former students association, inc.

THE SPIRIT OF THE Alumnae Association really prevails when the Association has its annual meeting on the campus of Woman's College. It is then that we realize the true purpose of the organization, understand that it will be our contact with school after graduation and the friends we knew there.

Of course we can't forget the warm hospitality for which the Association is so famous. Its members were here to welcome us as freshmen and have helped us keep up our morale the other three years. With great pleasure we look back and remember the teas that the Association gave in the informal atmosphere of the Alumnae House.

Because of the efforts of the Alumnae Association, we have the use of the Alumnae House, which has certainly become a symbol of our college life. The Association is the backbone of many college activities, offering us aid in our legislative program, establishing scholarships, and keeping in touch with former students.

For the fine service it has rendered us each year, we salute the Alumnae Association of Woman's College.

The Democratic Way—

NANCY KIRBY, President

THE MOST EXCITING PART of Student Government—as far as the whole campus is concerned—is election time; the time of banners three feet high, strange parades through the dining halls, cheering parties by torch-light, and frenzied mass meetings.

After the shouting dies down, S. G. A. carries on in its own calm and efficient way, taking care of "all matters that are not reserved in the said grant of power" (see Constitution). Taking over their duties in May, in order to get the benefit of the sage advice of their predecessors, the elected officers keep things going smoothly—in their executive, legislative, and judicial functions.

The Pre-School Conference in September means a reunion of the student leaders. After the thrill of seeing everyone again has been vociferously expressed, a lot of good hard work is done—plans are made for the beginning school year, through special committees and the larger group. With the return of the natives, the plans which became actualities this year were the revision of the Service League and the rejuvenation of campus clubs.

To upperclassmen, S. G. A. and its various subdivisions are part of everyday life. The Freshmen get to know it gradually as they come in contact with hall boards, or get to know their proctors by the sound of a "call down"; but Freshman Week is also helpful. At this time, the new ipso facto members of the student body are welcomed by the chief officers at a meeting in Aycok. And, later on, they are introduced to the honor policy, a comparatively new but very important phase of Woman's College campus government.

From the presidency to committee memberships, S. G. A. is of, by, and for the students. The excitement of elections subsides, but the interest remains keen.

JUDICIAL BOARD

"STATE YOUR CASE, PLEASE," begins Chief Justice Kirby as the defendant takes her seat facing the nine black-cloaked members of the Judicial Board. The judges wear their most becoming austere expressions—as a rule, but, occasionally, the situation has been known to develop comic tendencies, and it has been said the "Judy" Board has smiled!

The cases are tried in the Judicial Board room of the Alumnae House. Every Monday night at 7:30 the Board meets around a long, green-topped, horse shoe table. A house president will come in and present the case of the student to be questioned. Behind closed doors the members of the Board debate each case and many times this question comes into the discussion. "Was it a case of gross carelessness or was it a deliberate defiance of the honor code of the campus?"

Each case is considered individually, and the penalties are decided on the basis of what will help to strengthen the honor of this particular person.

Nancy Kirby, as president of student government, acts as chairman of the Board. Betty Styron, who is secretary of student government acts as clerk of the court. Miss Alexander with years of legal experience to her credit sees to it that the Quality of Mercy is not strained or neglected.

WHERE POWER LIES.

THE FINANCE BOARD

THE DIFFICULT TASK of deciding upon the budget for student organization, and the allotment of funds for special needs falls to the Finance Board. It requires an open mind and an understanding of the interests of both the students and the administration.

THE ELECTIONS BOARD

THERE IS NEVER A TIME in the spring when this group isn't busily working away, unknown to the majority of the student body. Scott and her cohorts do much more than make the posters that identify the candidates for each election. For weeks before election days, the committee checks on the candidates' records, and after giving approval, checks all the names on petitions for validity. We give credit to a job well done.

FINANCE BOARD: KITTY MAXWELL, DR. KEISTER, JEAN HOLMES, Secretary; DELON COOPER KEARNEY, Chairman; MARY LOUISE HOLMES, MRS. KATHS, MR. LOCKHART.

ELECTIONS BOARD: IDA HARPER, DORIS MILLS, JANIS BOLTON, NANCY KIRBY, DR. HOOKE, JEAN DICKEY, SCOTT TYREE, Chairman; ELIZABETH WILLIAMSON.

SUPER CAMPAIGNING.

Our Guiding Lights

WHO'S THE CENTER OF LIFE in your residence hall . . . the girl who makes all the wheels run smoothly? Why, it's your house president, of course. You know her . . . the attractive girl who lives in 201 who is always ready to sympathize, to hear your complaints and suggestions, and sometimes to scold when things get too rough . . . who is anxious to answer questions, carry your ideas to legislature, bring you reports on the campus at house meetings . . . the girl who plans the parties you want, the open houses, who helps you dress for that big dance, who has the amplifier fixed and who fills in when you need a fourth for bridge . . . the emergency gal who burns her light late because she's been doing things for us, from calling the plumber to helping compose that first letter to your prospective mother-in-law. Sure, you know her . . . there's one in every dorm . . . she's your friend.

And how about your counselor? Those friendly advisers we have to go to when all else fails . . . when we want some worthwhile chats, and permissions for all-important week-ends . . . Many of our old friends returned to the campus to guide us this year: Mrs. Funderburk, Miss Martin, Miss Grogan, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Carter, Miss Taylor, Miss Giese, Miss Garner,

SHAW—
Miss Garner,
Kay Bissell.

Miss Sherwin, and Mrs. Inghram. New faces, but now just as good friends are: Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Healy, who took Miss Cole's place second semester, Mrs. West, Mrs. Andrews, and Mrs. Kath's.

Upperclassmen were led through a bigger and better war-time year by the nine senior house presidents. Shaw Hall boasted artistic Kay Bissell as their leader . . . Kirkland was intrigued by the fun of little Margaret Woosley, while twin Woman's Hall was noted for cooperation under capable Alison Rice . . . talented "Deepie" Severance won the admiration of Mary Foust and energetic Doris McRoberts made fun for New Guilford. Winfield and Weil retained their popular reputations under vivacious Margaret Johnson and lovable Kay O'Brien . . . North Spencer was captivated by Jo Whitley's personality . . . and versatile Betty Lou Howser maintained the gracious hospitality of South Spencer.

These were our residence hall leaders. We doff our hats to a job well done.

COIT—
Miss Grogan,
Camilla Griffin.

BAILEY—
Miss Cole,

THIS YEAR AS USUAL, six girls from the junior class graced the Freshman halls on the quadrangle to be big sisters to the Class of '47 . . . Efficient Betty Scott Barber inspired Gray Hall . . . smooth Dianne Page charmed Jamison . . . tiny Ann Long had Bailey at her beck and call . . . fascinating Camilla Griffin was a model for Coit . . . the commercials were led by winsome Anna Gillespie to their rightful place as a big part of our campus . . . and peppy Hope Schilletter made Cotten a lively hall. These junior house presidents had heavy responsibilities toward seeing that our youngest students began on the right foot, and whatever heights are reached in three years by the Class of '47 will be in part because of their first friends . . . their house presidents.

Classes

WE'VE COME A LONG WAY from the confused homesick lot we were that Freshman Week four years ago; we've grown up quite a bit between our year of closed study and our year of blanket permission; we've learned all sorts of new things between History 101 and Coordinating Course 449. And yet, how difficult it is to realize that our time for graduation has come so soon! The seemingly unattainable diploma is within our grasp—and we almost want to say, "Oh, no, not yet—just one more year." But time is swift and relentless, and 1944 has arrived for the Class of '44. So we must be content with our memories and make way for the Seniors of '45; we must take our new maturity and new knowledge into a world which needs us.

The impressive solemnity of receiving diplomas in all our cap-and-gown dignity will be an important one of those everyday things which have made up our life here: the post office rush, the toilsome hours in the upperclass reserve room, the periodic return of exams, bull sessions far into the night.

As a class we have our memories, too—our work on the projects of gardening on the lake-side and of good grooming; our singing the class song at mass meetings; our Sophomore jackets and our Senior rings; our formal dances each year; our class chairmen, Miss Burns and Miss Largent; class meetings, elections, our own May Court, our Senior Ball.

It's not easy for us to leave all this behind and venture once more into the unknown. But, fortified by the academic and social experiences we have had here—and challenged by the problems before us—we proudly and confidently join the ranks of Woman's College alumnae.

Bluejacket Juniors

CLASS OF '45 — no longer dubbed Sophomoric, and still unhampered by Senior dignity—blithe spirits all. We listened sympathetically to Seniors' tales of comprehensive woe, and felt comfortably superior when baffled Freshmen asked which was "A" and which "B."

From the morning-after-the-night-before gloom of breakfastless, cutless Mondays, we escaped with the pride of ownership to the Junior Shop, smoke-filled haven where chocolate and vanilla milks were imbibed with hot debates on surrealism and Wimpy Cuddlepet. Thanks to our astute, hardworking managers, Marty Fonville, Lib Fant, and Mary Frances Sutton, the Junior Shop netted a patriotic profit which we sunk in War Bonds.

Those who were Junior advisers felt like perambulating quiz programs during Freshman week, but were sheepishly gratified when our sister class stood up for our song in Chapel and were appropriately solemn at the candlelight ceremony by the lake.

Though we broke tradition with our snappy blue blazers and the discontinuation of the Freshman-Junior Wedding, we remained conformists in other fields. Evelyn Motley headed our annual University Sermon at which Dr. Herring from Duke spoke; Frances Scott handled two orders for class rings; and there were unlimited cuts for the privileged Dean's List-ers.

On the social side, B. T. C. took up where Chapel Hill and Duke left off, and there were a sprinkling of bars at the Junior Formal on December 11. Chairman Mary McLean proved the happy kinship of beauty and brains, and nostalgic Yankees and snowless Southerners alike appreciated the "Old Fashioned Christmas" theme.

Although we'll miss the Seniors, it was a thrill to move up to those front rows in Chapel at the last mass meeting.

Class of Truth and Fame

IT JUST DOESN'T SEEM POSSIBLE that two whole years have passed. As Freshmen, we always said, "College couldn't be better than this!" Yet our Sophomore year certainly has been. We've advanced from foolish Freshmen to sophisticated Sophomores; from two dates a week to unlimited, from fears of the faculty to friendship; from onlookers to workers in campus organizations.

Our pet project continues to be the beautification of the campus. We don old clothes and spend afternoons raking dry, brown leaves. We threaten dire death by day to all campus cutters. Our new project is urging students to attend church and Sunday School regularly. We went all-out for an excellent University Sermon in December with Dr. W. A. Smart as guest speaker.

The Sophomore Christmas pageant was another function which put us on the campus map. Under the direction of Jinx Faulk, it set new heights for a simple and beautiful presentation of the scriptures.

Socially we stepped forward, too, with our Valentine Formal. Its theme — "My Heart Tells Me." Memories of hearts and flowers, the figure predominant with service men, pale punch in the little gym, dim lights, the crisp February air, the crackling fires at open house, will remain with us always.

Like the leaves, in the spring we burst forth in fresh, deep green and white blazers. The college crest in the upper corner made our jackets distinctly different.

We've loved our Sophomore year. We've profited by our mistakes. Now we're ready to take on new responsibilities, new pleasures, new work. Next year and the year that follows we hope to prove a stanza in our class song, "The class of truth and fame." We think we've set the foundation.

Debut: Class of '47

"FORWARD IN UNITY" is our class motto and we certainly have moved forward this year. Freshman week passed by in confusion. We furnished our large, bare rooms, rushed hither and thither with Junior advisers, got lost on campus, had our pictures taken, took innumerable tests, went to mass meetings, entertainments, Freshman reception, and made friends. Everything was so new to us. The campus was huge, impressive and we never knew there were so many Freshmen in the world. Then the upperclassmen arrived in hordes and registration began. We bought books and went to our first college classes. We were like the amoeba in biology, changing, vasculating, one huge, unorganized mass.

Gradually we became orientated. We took our seats in the balcony at chapel, we elected members to legislature, we selected members to the Freshman commission. We had our first class meeting. Dora Lewis, Nancy Mullican, and Lucy Wolfe composed and wrote our class song. Betty Van Os designed our red and white banner. We were organized at last.

In the spring we organized committees, tacked up stars, bunting, stairways in the gym, and filled out dance programs. We pressed our evening gowns, set our hair, and at last we were ready for our first class formal, Stairway to the Stars. Corsages, men, punch, music, dim lights really made it a super evening.

This year at W. C. has been one we'll never forget. The food fests late Saturday night, dancing on the terrace in the spring and fall, our helpful house presidents and counselors, the society formals and dorm dances, initiation with love letters, towels, society colors, singing laundry cards, cleaning rooms, and then the formal reception in the Alumnae House, sledding in laundry baskets on the amphitheater hills, and week-ends at Carolina, Duke, or State will never leave us.

We've passed our exams, made friends, liked our studies and professors. We've loved this year. Now we're ready for three more years. We're looking forward to them!

Business Buzz

WE, THE COMMERCIAL STUDENTS OF 1943-1944, have a real challenge for the coming year. With the many positions calling for women trained in business we feel that not only our intensive study, but our social contacts and the fun we've had will stand us in good stead.

It's been a full year. When the Certificates are finally given, and we're trying to stuff six tennis balls and a shorthand pad into an already bulging bag, our gay good-byes will have a touch of regret for all we leave behind. With Mrs. West, our brand new counselor, and Anna Gillespie, our sympathetic house president, we'll leave our love and respect for the jobs they've done so well.

We've had such a wonderful opportunity for meeting our classmates—lots of different girls, some with previous college training, and most of us from high school.

Remember our dormitory parties, and those midnight bull sessions over the box from home? Somehow just meeting and having a friendly word with our teachers gave us an added lift and made that transcription less routine.

Our class had such a cooperative spirit. The "Tacky Party" before Christmas had just that holiday touch. We'll never hear "Paper Doll" without remembering Margaret Adams leading the figure at our formal and the fun we had that night.

We look forward to making a place for ourselves in the business world, and we look back to a full, well-rounded year at Woman's College.

The Campus Front

JANICE HOOKE, Colonel

EVEN THE COLONEL was a civilian at the Pre-School Conference. Then it was suggested that girls be given army ranks according to their positions on the War Service League or for hours they would serve working for it; that they could be raised or "busted" according to their merits.

Colonel Janice Hooke had started working during the summer, converting the Adelphian Hall of the Students' Building from a room full of plush dust-catchers and do-dad trimmings into a bandage-rolling center, neat as a Red Cross pin. There was a regular swarm of officers, for the Colonel put in a system of leaders so that all activities of the League could be carried through to each student. There was a leader of each dormitory and of each floor, who were commissioned first and second lieutenants, respectively.

The War Service League offered the students two fields of activity. The first was the buying of War Stamps and Bonds. This year, the emphasis was on regular buying instead of mad sprees of War Stamp collecting, followed by months of dinners downtown and pancake make-up. Every girl was asked to pledge the small amount that she knew she could spare each week, and buy her quota regularly—or better still, exceed it! To avoid confusion, the floor leaders kept a record of the amount each girl bought each week.

The other golden opportunity was war work. In this way, the War Service League directed all campus energy into channels that were of real importance. Bandage-rolling, knitting, attending "soldier dances," and replacing the former paid labor on campus are some of the jobs that were offered.

BUNDLES FOR UNITED NATIONS.

The year had a bang-up beginning with the October drive in which the campus won the Minute Man Flag for over ninety per cent cooperation. There was the Fourth War Loan Drive where every student had a quota of one extra dollar to give. There were the scrap drives, book drives, clothes drives; and in each Woman's College lived up to her name. Reviewing the year, the W. S. L. motto might well have been, "Woman's College Drives on to Victory."

The Y's Girls Are At It

BARBARA ANN SMITH, President

THE SPIRIT OF THE "Y" at W. C. this year was characterized by Miss Garner's term "Homogenization." The "Y" program concerned itself with a variety of everyday activities and interests in the main stream of campus living. Our association is primarily interested in the development of individuals rather than programs, affirms the president, Barbara Ann Smith.

The "Y" Cabinet met at nine o'clock on Monday evening. This group of girls not only shared a meaningful fellowship, but they acted as a central planning group for the many activities of the "Y." "Get Up and Go" talks by Miss Garner set a vigorous pace for these meetings.

Campus vespers were sponsored by the "Y" on Friday evenings in the Music recital hall. These short devotional periods were led by outstanding ministers from neighboring towns. Occasionally we had special guests, such as Miss Mercy Cornelius, from India, and, at another time, Chaplain Jordan, from B. T. C. No. 10.

Early in the fall all the Freshmen were invited to become members of the "Y." Three afternoon clubs were organized. Hanging the Christmas greens with the traditional caroling, collecting gifts for a Japanese-American Relocation camp, "After the War—What Then?" discussion groups, and a traditional fellowship deputation with boys from the Freshman "Y" at Carolina were a few of the highlights of the Freshman club program.

This year the Sophomore club put emphasis on the student in the post-war world. The Junior-Senior clubs worked along this same theme of our part in our immediate community and in our world community now and after the war.

This year the "Y" took part in several inter-racial activities. We worked with the Guilford County Inter-racial Commission and cooperated with their annual choral concert in February. Exchange programs with Bennett College were helpful to our groups.

Exam time means tea time to the social committee of the "Y." Musical Interludes in the Religious Activities Center provide relaxation and refreshment during this "time of our lives."

Renewing an old custom, the "Y" sponsored a campus-wide Thanksgiving service in Aycock, for which Mr. Dalton was the speaker.

Christian participation in our college community has been the goal of the "Y" this year. Training in citizenship, leadership, and creative living have been the results.

Understanding Through Religion

ELIZABETH JORDAN, President

UNDERSTANDING AMONG VARIOUS denominations is one of the most important features of the American way. Because the Inter-Faith Council sponsors this understanding on our campus, it is a vital part of college life. Differences in religion have brought together a group of representatives from the various faiths at regular monthly meetings to discuss problems common to us all.

The program of the Council has made it possible for you and me to stand up and proudly say that I am a Protestant, Catholic, or Jew. The work of the Inter-Faith Council, however, does not terminate with mere words. It coordinates the activities of all the religious organizations, sponsors dormitory devotions, and directs a community service program.

Hats off to Miss Maxine Garner, Adviser, and Lib Jordan, President of the Council, for cementing our differences into a program of solidarity and sincere understanding!

Don't forget tennis—you may even be able to serve them up to Helen Jacobs. . . . For a jolly old week-end, Camp Ahutforfun couldn't be beat.

Recreation Association Advisory Board . . . big plans made to keep everyone busy . . . week-end recreation . . . after-school sports . . . gym night . . . clubs . . . seasonal banquets . . . there goes the final whistle that ends the game!

TO BRING TOGETHER those interested in the various arts in order to promote their understanding and appreciation, the first Annual Arts Forum was held on Woman's College campus February 25 and 26. The Forum was sponsored by the School of Music, by the Departments of Art and English, by the Physical Education Department and its Dance Group, and by the Playlikers, the Young Composers' Club, Quill Club, and Glee Club.

The Forum got off to a big start with a round table discussion which included Dr. Winfield Rogers, Chairman; Dr. Marc Friedlaender, taking the place of Dr. Hiram Hayden, who dashed in with baggage just as the discussion closed, Ruth Reaves, Belle Boaz, Norman Lloyd, Normand Lockwood, and Mrs. Lois Rath-brum Allison. Words were hot and heavy, but Dr. Friedlaender summed them up when he said, "Let's not have any more bastardizing of the Arts."

Rhythmic patterns of the Dance Groups led by Norman Lloyd . . . the pattern motif continued in Dr. Hayden's discussion, "Patterns in Poetry" . . . the weird discords of Mr. Lockwood's modern music . . . discussions of forms and techniques in painting and textile design . . . the culmination of the Forum, the Antigone of Sophocles . . . all will serve to remind us of the excellent and interesting achievements of this, our first Forum, and to make us hope for a repeat performance next year.

Junius to the rescue at crucial moments . . . and the prima donna excitement of first night flowers—all mean Aycock to the Playlikers, and productions, by no means amateurish, done with professional finesse to the play-going campus.

The first drama of the year was Moor Born, Dan Totheroh's sensitive, brooding treatment of the life of the Bronte sisters. Grace Estep as "Emily" had the leading role and Mr. Taylor was director. Something new was added in the second production when the Dance Group invaded Aycok and worked with Playlikers and the Art and Music departments in a presentation of the Antigone of Sophocles. It was a fitting climax for the first Annual Arts Forum held at Woman's College. Miss Kathryn England, Mrs. Lois Rathburn Allison, and Mr. Richard Corson shared the honors as director, choreographer, and technical director, respectively. Virginia Madsen had the title role. Another innovation was the presentation of three one-act plays, the first a fantasy and the other two high comedy. Will-o'-the-Wisp by Doris Hallman, The Twelve-Pound Look by Sir James Barrie, and The Sisters McIntosh were directed by Mr. Richard Corson, the author of The Sisters McIntosh. In addition, two experimental plays were presented, written and directed by the students themselves.

Students who do outstanding work in a dramatic or technical capacity are selected for membership in Masqueraders, the honorary dramatic group on campus. Sara Lou Allred, as President of Playlikers, is also President of Masqueraders. The other officers of Masqueraders are: Margaret Woolsey, Vice-President; Arlene Steinacher, Secretary; Eleanor Dare Taylor, Publicity Chairman; and Betty Nickerson, Business Manager.

Outstanding Masqueraders become members of the W. C. Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity.

2:00 A. M., AND LIGHTS BLAZE from one lone Winfield window. Inside any of the PINE NEEDLES staff available at such an hour work wearily in the effort to organize stacks of "glossies" and typewritten sheets into a yearbook with some degree of order.

As Business Manager, Anna had the Business Staff working smoothly by the time January and her graduation rolled around. . . . Then Jule Hurst took over in mid-stream. . . . Editor Bonnie spent the year tearing her hair over assorted woes. . . . Alice Peeler became the arch enemy of all college operators in an effort to notify unending groups about pictures scheduled, or cancelled because of rain. . . . Patton seized all innocent bystanders with an artist's gleam in her eye, to make them pose for her sketches. . . . Queensbury hit a new high in locals received and sent, and constantly was worried by Seniors who insisted upon being married, throwing the Senior section completely out of line. . . . Nancy Edmunds was besieged by Sophs asking what kind of pictures they would have. . . . Holland dashed hither and thither, filling in the gaps. . . . Juliana pounded the typewriter and copy-read until she knew "the book" by heart . . . and the rest of the staff worked hard at the jobs that require time and patience with little recognition.

Back in September, when plans were neatly laid, we thought that the publishing of a yearbook would be largely a matter of time. In the course of the year we realized our mistake. The labor shortage, the paper shortage, and the time shortage have made us bow to a superior force, and alter original plans. Yet we are glad that even in the face of war we are able to give you PINE NEEDLES as a record of a memorable year. Here you have it—the product of our blood, sweat, and tears—the 1944 PINE NEEDLES.

Deadliners

HAL MARCH, Editor

MARG WHEELER, News Editor

THE METAL BASKET BOUNCES as a fist pounds the table. The talk gets more heated, the smoke gets thicker, and papers are pushed about pell-mell.

"Say, get to work over there! We haven't got all night!"

There are a few more remarks. Then all get to work—Marg and Marie on the phone, brow-beating reporters to get their stories in, Lucy measuring stories and assigning heads, and Van Sickle re-writing. The metal basket cages story after story, until it is piled high.

The Carolinian office is the campus center of heated argument on student government issues; of the latest dope on class elections, faculty lectures, and conferences; of discussion of whether to abolish societies or just to abolish society, of what is education, and of the latest bits of wisdom that have evolved from Brit lit and comp lit.

A weekly newspaper, completely student-written and managed, The Carolinian is the product of approximately seventy-five aspiring journalists and advertising agents.

Editor Hal March, feeling that the primary jobs of The Carolinian are to present campus news accurately and to provide a vehicle for free expression, has found that the first job has been adequately treated by Marg Wheeler, News Editor. The second job she has tried to fulfill by giving her columnists a free reign and in establishing an open forum. She has, through editorials themselves, campaigned for the abolition of the societies, the revision of the system of upperclassman House President elections, the revision of class attendance regulations to provide unlimited cuts for all Seniors, Juniors, and second-semester Sophomores, and the supremacy of the liberal arts over vocational subjects in the college curriculum.

Jane Simmons, Business Manager, and her assistant, Bobbie Pettit, have weathered a tough year of ad-gathering remarkably well. In fact, so able are the business gals that the paper approaches being fifty per cent advertising! Speaking without exaggeration, however, their job has been performed admirably under difficult conditions.

The 1943-1944 Carolynian has tried to represent the activities of the campus in its news stories and features, and to let the campus represent its own thoughts through the editorial page.

FRENZIED FRESHMEN ON INITIATION DAY, endless reception lines where harrassed hostesses pump six hundred hands, campus queens in long white dresses parading as the formal hostesses of the college, all these remind us of that part of college life in which the societies have a prominent part.

Today the societies provide that certain feeling of fellowship among its members. Helping to complete the social life of the average Woman's College student, the societies are far removed from their original purposes. The year 1893 marks the forming of the Adelpgian and Cornelian Societies. Later years added the Aletheian and Dikean Societies. As other clubs formed, the literary needs of the school were taken care of, leaving the social welfare of the students in the hands of the societies.

SOCIETY

At the beginning of the school year, the societies are very much in evidence. The members turn their energies to making life temporarily miserable for the Freshman. "Sister rat" while waiting on the upperclassmen learns the true spirit of college life. At this time, she is initiated into one of the societies in which she identifies herself for the rest of her college life. The poor, unsuspecting Freshman must do everything from scrubbing floors to proposing to male members of the faculty. But it is all in fun and lasts for only one day.

Then too the societies are noted for their traditional annual formal dinners. This year these were very much modified. To save expense and in keeping with the war effort, the formal dinners merged into one large reception at the Alumnae House. There the society officers gave speeches of welcome to the new members. Cherry Folger and her orchestra tempered the souls of the new initiates with music which made the occasion complete. The Freshmen were indeed properly introduced into campus life.

Patriotism reigned supreme again when the societies joined hands to sponsor their annual dances. The Adelprians and Dikcans combined their efforts to sponsor a formal dance in November. The theme was "Lampighter's Serenade." In January the Cornelians and Aletheians presented another ball, featuring "Summertime."

SOCIETY

The societies are ever present in the lovely whiterobed marshals who usher at all the lectures and concerts in Aycock auditorium. This honor is bestowed upon eight girls from each society.

Due to the fun of initiation day, due to the luscious annual dinners, due to the thrilling annual dances, and due to the lovely marshals, the societies have really "made it gay."

May Day

ON THE FIRST OF MAY in the year 1590 during the reign of Good Queen Bess, there was a holiday for everyone in Merrie England. The citizens of London trooped out to the green—busy shopkeepers, industrious housewives, sooty chimney-sweeps, and pert dairy-maids all escaped from their workaday world to celebrate the Feast of the May. Trumpets heralded the arrival of Maid Marian and her garlanded maidens. There were dances and a tournament in her honor, and the valiant Robin Hood crowned his lady Queen of the May.

Nancy Jackson, the Queen of the May, was attended by Emma Lee Gibson and Betty Snider as maids of honor, and by Corneille Caraway, Margaret Moss, Edna Brown, Helen Cox, Mary Lib Doggett Beaman, Jean Stephenson, Dorothy Madsen, Billie Upchurch, Jean Rickert, Ellen Taylor, Mollie Bowie, and Mary Ada Cox, May Day Chairman.

The committee assisting Mary Ada Cox were: Billie Nifong, dances; Jean Keeter, costumes; Suzanne Carroll, music; Elizabeth King, arrangements; Janet Hubbard, programs; and Jean Moo-mau, script. Miss Ione Grogan was faculty adviser.

"Day In — Night Out"

DAY-IN-NIGHT-OUT, we made it gay. Fun was rationed so we played hard—with B. T. C. and the V-12's filling in the gaps. We still played bridge and bulled about the things that have been bulled about since we were Normal and Industrial. We joined the great out doors at Camp Ahuttorfun . . . we skated and danced and met new men. . . . We grew introspective over the beauties of the lake . . . and some of us, with life going by in high gear, married The Boy.
